The Sins of the Children

By COSMO HAMILTON

Author of "The Blindness of Virtue"

A Story of Endless Thrill and Romance

Here is a novel built up around an American family. The scenes are mostly laid in New York, where the father is a famous bacteriologist,—a very distinguished, high-minded man, who is, however, devoid of the gift of making himself a friend to his sons and daughters. It is only by a series of accidents that the young people of this family are rescued from the grave mistakes and mishaps into which they wander with blind eyes, aided and abetted by an attractive young English waster.

Both as a story and as a sermon we regard THE SINS OF THE CHILDREN as an unusually vital book. We know of no better way to convince you of our faith in its strength and sincere moral purpose than by telling you now, at the outset of the publicity campaign which we shall start shortly, that our advertising plans call for a larger sum, by far, than we have ever expended in advertising a novel.

A TRADE UNION OF AUTHORS?

WE print elsewhere in full, on account of its significance, the statement and report which the Committee on Affiliation unanimously presents to the members of the Authors' League, recommending that the League become a union in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. The proposal will come as a surprise to the older members of the guild of authors, who have looked upon their calling rather as a profession than as a trade; and it will be interesting to find what may be the general reception of the plan on the part of author members. It would doubtless result in separating from the League those authors who hold to the view that authorship is not a commercial calling and who feel that to restrict their liberty of action by becoming members of a trade union would go counter to all the traditions which they hold dear. Those who have been most active in promoting copyright legislation on behalf of authors know only too well that the difficulty in procuring a copyright code without the manufacturing clause was created by the typographical and other unions, and to expect to solve the difficulty by introducing dissension on this subject into the American Federation of Labor would seem quite a miscalculation.

It is already announced that there would be a secession from the League in case this trade union policy were adopted, and it is to be doubted whether the plan is in the general interest of authors, except those recognizing their calling as of a commercial character. A standardized contract, as a general form indicating the most satisfactory relations between authors and publishers, is altogether desirable; and we are sure would be welcomed generally by publishers. But it is improbable that its adoption would be rendered more likely by the adoption of trade union methods, or that collective bargaining in union fashion, involving strikes, boycotts and the like, would help to this altogether desirable end. Whether in the same way the real grievance that the authors may have against the producers of motion pictures could be better remedied by a boycott or strike pressure exercised by the members of all labor unions connected with that industry rather than by the direct and combined pressure of the authors by themselves or by the improvement of the law and practice by other means, is fairly and seriously a matter of question.

The affiliation proposed also offers, it would seem, some curious anomalies of internal administration to the American Federation of Labor. Membership in any organization involves responsibilities as well as benefits, but the League's Committee claim to have arranged to secure the latter without the former. Sympathetic strikes and other trade union pressure in aid of authors' rights are confidently promised, but no reciprocal responsibility of any sort is to be incurred. How will the typographical, moving picture and dramatic unions view such a one-sided arrangement? The whole question is one the discussion of which will be followed with interest by publishers as well as authors.

PUBLISHERS may have failed to notice or perhaps to appreciate the full significance of the bill recently passed by Congress and signed by the President granting a federal charter to the Boy Scouts of America. The fact of particular interest to publishers is Section 7, which reads:

Sec. 7. That said corporation shall have the sole and exclusive right to have and to use, in carrying out its purposes, all emblems and badges, descriptive or designating marks, and words or phrases now or heretofore used by the Boy Scouts of America in carrying out its program, it being distinctly and definitely understood, however, that nothing in this Act shall interfere or conflict with established or vested rights.

The purpose of the section is clear. The Boy Scouts of America have been greatly annoyed by the unauthorized use of their name and their peculiar phrases and other indicia for purely commercial purposes, and particularly to exploit goods of whose quality they did not approve. Various other national bodies—educational, religious and patriotic—have been facing the same problem; and the Quakers, Harvard University and others have taken action through the courts to prevent this particular sort of nominal contamination. Although it is difficult to say, certainly it seems fairly clear that from now on the Boy Scouts of America will be able to prevent the unauthorized use of their indicia to describe, for instance, books or other publications of which they do not approve—if such disapproval does not “interfere or conflict with established or vested rights.” The emblems and badges of the Boy Scouts of America have been properly registered under the patent law; but the term of this protection is comparatively brief, and the Boy Scout organization has been working for several years to secure the passage of a law which would afford them the legal security to which they felt they were entitled.

AUTHORS' LEAGUE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS AFFILIATION WITH AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

ON April 27th the Executive Committee of the League appointed a sub-committee, with power to add to its numbers, to investigate, consider and report upon the advisability of the League's affiliating with the American Federation of Labor.

On May 18th, at a special meeting of the Council, this sub-committee reported that after careful investigation and consideration of the matter, it was the unanimous opinion of the committee that affiliation of the Authors' League with the American Federation of Labor was not only feasible, but highly desirable from the standpoint of the interests of the League.

In order thoroughly to test the sentiment of the membership of the League, the Council voted to submit the matter of affiliation to a referendum vote of the League within six months and directed the committee to prepare a full statement for distribution among the members of the League to aid them in coming to an intelligent understanding of all the facts and considerations involved.

It should be clearly understood that, inasmuch as the question of such affiliation cannot be decided except by actual vote of the members of the League at a regular meeting, this referendum was proposed and ordered by the Council for the sole purpose of ascertaining the general sentiment upon the matter, and does not in any degree or manner commit the League to affiliation.

The members of the committee above referred to submit herewith for your consideration the facts on which are based their opinion that affiliation with the American Federation of Labor is desirable.

Respectfully,

THOMPSON BUCHANAN,

Chairman of the Committee on Affiliation.

STATEMENT TO THE MEMBERSHIP ON THE QUESTION OF AFFILIATION OF THE AUTHORS' LEAGUE OF AMERICA WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

This committee, after carefully weighing present conditions and future possibilities, has been brought definitely to the belief that affiliation with the American Federation of Labor is the wisest and most promising course the Authors' League can take to strengthen itself for its effort to improve conditions for its members. To give at the very outset a summary of the considerations which have led us to this conclusion, we believe that affiliation would greatly help the League in the following specific matters—which constitute at present the League's most important purposes and problems:

(1) Greatly increase the League's ability to correct abuses prevalent in the motion-picture field.

(2) Aid the League in its negotiations for Standardized Contracts in the publishing, magazine and theatrical business. (Later on we explain what is meant by a Standardized Contract.)

(3) Help the League in its endeavor to secure Universal Copyright and to put the United States in the International Copyright League, thereby automatically securing worldwide copyright protection for any matter copyrighted in America.

(4) Aid the League in procuring other legislation which may be desirable to secure the rights of authors.

Before going into the all-important matter of how affiliation with the American Federation of Labor will aid the League in its efforts to achieve these ends, the committee wishes to present a brief statement of the conditions existing in various lines of literary business.

From the viewpoint of the author, conditions in the motion-picture industry are perhaps more unsatisfactory than in any other field in which he is active. The author is practically at the mercy of irresponsible and dishonest producers. Piracy is rampant and redress uncertain, copyright questions are obscure and contract matters indescribably chaotic. For example, it is charged that plays and novels by authors so prominent and seemingly well-protected as Hall Caine, J. M. Barrie and Gilbert Parker have been stolen for screen production and that thus far redress has been denied. There is scarcely an American author of fiction who has not in some degree suffered from the unsatisfactory methods and practices in this, the newest field of literary endeavor.

The deliberate use of well-known titles, cunningly contrived piracy, even outright theft of plots—these practices are becoming even more common; but, unfortunately, these things are difficult of proof, and under existing conditions, and in view of the chaos arising from vexed questions of film copyright, the author is at a tremendous disadvantage, not only in protecting his property, but in all his dealings with picture producers.

These grave abuses in the motion-picture industry are due in great part to the youth of the business, and partly to the class of people who have been attracted by the unprecedented money-making possibilities of the films, or who have been carried up in spite of themselves by the phenomenal development of some of the big companies. In this field, it is the League's most serious business to strive for better contract conditions and forms, to devise means for securing the enforcement of these contracts, to endeavor to secure more accurate and equitable methods of accounting and of calculating royalties and to attend to a score of other matters, comparatively minor, but in themselves important.

Next to the motion-picture business, conditions are worst, from the author's standpoint, in the dramatic field. So far as the established dramatic author is concerned, it is to be conceded that at present he has small cause for complaint. With the new author, however, the case is quite different. Plays are frequently held by a manager as long as six months and then returned without comment. And, after a play has been accepted, contracts vary so widely, and for the most part are drawn so carefully in favor of the manager, that the new author with a success is apt to get little compared to the amount he should receive. Further, when it comes to making a play into a motion picture, the theatrical managers, pleading that the motion pictures have cut into their profits, demand a substantial share, usually one-half, of the motion-picture rights; and it has been charged in some instances that managers have paid the author $500 for his share in the picture rights, which rights they have secretly disposed of for $10,000 and more.

Against these abuses in the motion-picture and theatrical business the new author is almost powerless, and up to the present the League has been able to aid him but little.

The conditions in the book and magazine business, as far as the higher class of publishers and magazines are concerned, are the best with which the League has to deal. But even here there are serious injustices. These abuses, in the case of the better publishers and publications, are largely the result of tradition: the continuance of old forms, old methods, old contracts, and a slowness to recognize new conditions which have arisen in the publishing business and to recognize new rights which have developed in the author's work. It is the prevailing custom for publishers to register copyrights in their own name, thus endangering the author's property rights in case of bankruptcy, and, by reason of the ruling in the case of Dam vs. LaShelle, endangering any rights that an author may have reserved to himself. Furthermore, it is not customary in the present form contracts to specify any date by which the work must be published. This frequently ties up an author's manuscript indefinitely. Most form contracts contain a clause permitting the publisher at his own discretion to sell copies of the book at or below cost and exempting him from paying a royalty to the author on copies so sold, and the League has frequently had to handle cases where publishers have taken unfair advantage of this clause. The termination clause, found in the average form contract, is very unsatisfactory, as it leaves the question of termination practically in the hands of the publisher. These are but a few of the most glaring defects found in book contracts.

In doing business with magazines, authors will also find themselves confronted with unsatisfactory conditions. Young authors frequently sell their work outright without realizing what they are actually doing. Some general agreement between the magazines and the League, regulating, as far as possible, what rights are sold, the conditions of sale, and the form of voucher check used, is very necessary. The question of copyright in connection with magazine publication is also in need of attention, as most magazines refuse to copyright in the author's name on the score that this is against the customs of the trade.

Since the League's inception, its principal efforts have been devoted to ameliorating these conditions and to effecting a better understanding between author and publisher. The reputable publishers have almost without exception met us fairly and given consideration to our representations, and hence substantial progress has been made. But many of the old practices which we consider unfair the reputable publishers are loath to abandon or alter—and in saying this we are not impugning the honesty of the publishers. Further, all publishers are not reputable. There are some who are not amenable to friendly approach and with whom nothing short of a court order has any effect.

Before proceeding to a statement of how affiliation with the American Federation of Labor would help the League remedy these abuses, it may be well to state the terms upon which the affiliation would be made. The essentials of the arrangement will be as follows, and to these points the American Federation of Labor has given its definite consent and approval:

(1) The League would retain its complete autonomy. The Federation could not in any way interfere with the conduct of the League's affairs, nor could it force the League into any action of any kind. In other words, the League would retain all the liberty which it now possesses as an independent organization, plus advantages which come from being a part of a large organization.

(2) Affiliation would not in any way limit or interfere with freedom of speech. Individuals would have exactly the same rights as they now possess of criticising the American Federation of Labor, or of picturing labor conditions in their writings.

(3) There are no union rules to be observed, and the Federation lays no claim to authority over any member.

(4) The financial cost to the League would be trifling; on the basis of the League's present membership, about $117 a year to be paid out of the League's treasury.

And now to take up in some detail the manner in which your committee believes affiliation would aid the League to remedy the before-mentioned abuses: Affiliation would give us the support of the Federation, with its 2,500,000 members, almost all of whom are voters. It would further give us the right to place before the various unions (and there are many unions whose interests are closely identified with the interests of authors) a statement of any differences we might have with motion-picture producers, theatrical managers, publishers and others, together with a request for active support. The particular union thus approached could then aid us in any way it might see fit, even to the extent of a strike, if our claims, in the eyes of its members, should justify such action.

The Federation also offers the services of a member of the national body to advise, when requested, with the Executive Committee of the League or any other special committee; and to sit with the League's committee in conference with publishers, theatrical managers or moving-picture companies' representatives. The Federation also agrees to do everything within its power to secure for the League a uniform fair contract, such as we have been trying unsuccessfully to secure from book and magazine publishers, theatrical managers and especially moving-picture companies.

Furthermore, the American Federation will, if desired, underwrite such contracts as it may have had a hand in settling; and it agrees to throw the power of the Federation against the party breaking the contract.

Naturally, if it should be a union in a closely-related art or business that is having trouble instead of the League, then that union could approach the League, and the latter could decide upon what it could do for its fellow organization. But, as has been before stated, any action would be wholly voluntary on the League's part; the League cannot be forced to adopt any course or take any stand.

The first of the abuses for us to consider, together with possible methods for their correction, are those existing in the motion-picture field. The work of organizing the various trades and professions in the motion-picture industry has been begun and is being pressed rapidly. The Screen Club of New York and a similar club in San Francisco are considering the matter and active union work is being done among the members of these societies. Representatives of the "White Rats," an organization of moving-picture and vaudeville performers, are now at work among the moving-picture actors in California. The camera men are also being organized and within a few months the labor representatives expect to have the entire industry unionized, so far as the acting and mechanical departments go. It is obvious that if we are banded together with these our power to fight against and correct injustices will be vastly increased.

In the dramatic field the musicians have a union and the effectiveness of their organization has been repeatedly proven. Furthermore, there is the Stage Hands Union, and within the past few weeks the Actors' Equity Association, to which belong the leading legitimate actors of the country, has also decided to affiliate with the Labor interests. These three unions are working in harmony with each other and together form a very strong alliance for securing justice.

The entire dramatic field, therefore, is organized, with the single exception of the authors, who form one of the most important links in the chain—for how can the manager produce plays unless the author writes them? It is obvious that if the League, too, joins this formidable array it will be in a much better position to safeguard the rights of its dramatic members.

Affiliation with the American Federation of Labor has already borne fruit for the actors—an illustration that should be of suggestive value to us authors in our consideration of affiliation. Even before the Actors' Equity Association had perfected its arrangement with the American Federation of Labor an agreement was reached with the managers whereby the actors were to receive pay for Sunday night performances in the West, something hitherto unheard of in the so-called legitimate theater. On the morning after the actors had decided by a vote of nearly 2000 to 20 to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, Klaw & Erlanger the strongest of the managers, announced that the firm had decided quite voluntarily that all the demands made by the Actors' Equity Association on the managers for improved conditions and fairer contracts were just and would be acceded to by Klaw & Erlanger and affiliated firms. Thus the actors, by merely voting to join the American Federation of Labor, secured a settlement of grievances that had rankled for forty years. There was here no hint of a strike or any suggestion of coercion; only the actors, from being private individuals, practically helpless, had changed—they had become members of a huge organization which the managers could not hope to defeat or even dare to offend.

One point worthy of especial note in the agreement between the actors and the American Federation of Labor is that in their fight for the Actors' Equity contract the actors will have the moral support of 2,500,000 labor unionists. Managers refusing to agree to this contract may be branded as unfair and union men and their families warned against their productions.

In considering the manner in which affiliation might help the League correct abuses in the book and magazine field, your committee desires to say that it believes that our ends can best be achieved by friendly negotiations. But we hold that in any friendly negotiations, in which the grievances are just, the chance of a respectful hearing and a successful outcome bears a very direct relation to the strength of the individual or organization with the grievance.

The abuses now existing in the book and magazine business (so the Authors' League has maintained) can be largely done away with by the Standardized Contract. Since there has been some misconception as to what the League means by a Standardized Contract, it may here be remarked that a Standardized Contract is one designed to cover completely the relations of the contracting parties in all respects except as to compensation. There are certain provisions which should go into every equitable contract between an author and his publisher, and there are certain other provisions which should appear in every equitable contract between a playwright and his producer. The same is true in the case of composers, artists, and other producers of copyrightable material. The rate of royalty or other compensation must, of course, be determined separately in each case and cannot be provided for in a true standardized contract.

A few publishers and editors have expressed themselves as favoring such a contract, but to have the Standardized Contract fully effective it must be generally accepted by publishers, editors and managers. Your committee holds that no action the League could take would strengthen the League so much for these necessary negotiations, and would help so much to secure general acceptance and use of the Standardized Contract, as the added influence which would come to the League through affiliation.

The manner in which affiliation would probably help the League secure Universal Copyright is even more direct. The copyright law as it now stands is not what the authors and other producers of copyrightable material could wish. Authors as a body have hitherto not been powerful enough to secure adequate attention in Washington, and the present law is, to a great extent, the result of the activities of the publishers and of other interests not entirely on the side of those for whose benefit the law was intended. Furthermore, the present form of the Copyright Act will not permit the United States to join the International Copyright Union, to which all the world powers except ourselves belong. This copyright union is based on reciprocity in copyright matters, and as the United States does not grant copyright to the authors of books in the English language first published abroad, on the same basis that England, for instance, does to the American authors, we are effectively debarred from the benefits of real international copyright. The responsibility for this lack of reciprocity in our law has been laid at the door of the typographical unions; it is charged that the chief purpose of this law is to secure for American workers the maximum amount of typesetting. As a matter of fact, the benefits gained by this law for the typographical unions are comparatively slight, while the injuries and losses brought by the law upon American authors are very great.

The League, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will be in a position to take this matter up with the Federation; and your committee has good reason to believe that the Federation will support the League in its efforts to secure universal copyright. The significance of this reform can hardly be overestimated, and it is the opinion of the committee that even if no benefit could be secured by the League through affiliation other than a better copyright law, affiliation would be entirely justified.

Besides a new copyright law, the League is interested in other legislation to improve the conditions of authorship; and this brings us to what is perhaps the most important point to be considered in connection with affiliation—and that is the weight of the Federation's influence in legislative matters. This has been so thoroughly demonstrated in the past that it needs no proof here on the part of the committee.

So much for the definite conditions, and methods for their betterment, which have led your committee to its conclusions. Now for a few general considerations:

A better example than that so recently furnished by the Actors' Equity Association can hardly be had of how the mere addition of the strength which comes from affiliation peacefully brings about an adjustment of old grievances; the case of the Chicago school teachers is another illustration of how affiliation may aid professional workers, that is worth the careful attention of the League's members while they are considering the proposal now laid before them.

The pay of the Chicago teachers had not been raised since 1877. A few years ago some of the bolder spirits asked for an increase, justifying their demands by reference to the general increase in living expenses. The City Fathers were horrified and pointed out that they had no money to spend frivolously. The school teachers thereupon employed lawyers to help the City Fathers find the money. These lawyers succeeded in collecting over $1,000,000 back taxes. This amount was turned over to the City Fathers, and was by them applied to the uses of the other departments. Thereupon the school teachers, all their efforts as a separate organization having failed, formed a union and sought admission to the Central Federation body of Chicago. They were admitted. Accompanied by a representative of the Central Federated Union the teachers again went to the City Fathers for a raise. The result of this new procedure was a grant of about ten per cent. over what they had demanded.

Your committee holds that affiliation would in no wise conflict with the principles for which the League was founded. The Authors' League is a business organization of working producers of copyrightable material, banded together to secure their rights and improve their conditions by mutual aid. In other words, the League is already a union in the widest definition of the word, since the underlying principle is practically the same as that of other unions, i. e., that individuals with similar interests can more readily secure their rights if they act in unison than if each worked alone. To us it therefore seems that the proposed step may fairly be considered as the logical extension of the League's present principles and efforts.

Possibly it may occur to some that affiliation with the American Federation of Labor might not be in keeping with their dignity as artists.

The signers of this report believe that if they as individuals have dignity, it comes from their work and their personal characters. If they do not have it they have forfeited it because of their work or their personal character; and being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor will not harm or help their dignity. Your committee feels that dignity in any true meaning of the word depends upon one's sense of self-respect; and that self-respect, in turn, depends very largely upon whether one is working under fair conditions for fair payment. Since your committee believes that affiliation will help improve conditions of authorship, your committee also believes that it will help increase dignity of the highest and truest sort.

To sum up, your committee holds that the advantages of affiliation far outweigh the disadvantages, that the probable benefits with it will be greater than any possible results without it. Your committee takes the position that a small autonomous organization can command more respect and exert more influence if it be a part of a large league of organizations, than if it stands alone, without allies.

SUN SHINES ON NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS ON ANNUAL OUTING

THE weather man kept his promise to Mr. Sherwood and Saturday, June 24, was all that the 325 booksellers, who journeyed down to Staten Island, could have wished. Everybody had a good time, from the time the umpire called "batter up" for the first event of the afternoon until the last couple one-stepped dreamily through the last dance and took almost the last train back to what would have been the last ferry if the ferry had not run all night.

THE BASEBALL GAME

If the Baker & Taylor Co. had had as good a pitcher as the American News Co., and if Brown had not allowed seven passed balls, and if the American News Co. had not gotten twice as many hits as the Baker & Taylor Co.—the Baker & Taylor team might have won the annual game. As it was, however, the game would have been 15 to 0 shut-out had not a series of clean hits netted the Baker & Taylor team five runs in the closing frame. If anybody finds an error in the following box-score, don't say anything about it—after all who wants to bother about keeping a box-score at a Booksellers' League Field Day when there is a game to watch, mosquito bites to scratch, people to talk to, and cooling brown bottles clinking under shady trees?

MISS WILBER AS "OUR MISS YORK."
This was the prize-winner in the contest for the costume best representing a recent novel.

STANDING BROAD JUMP

Immediately after the game the track games began. The standing broad jump was won by a mustache, C. Silberman, of Thomas Nelson's Sons, the only man entering with an unshaved upper lip, winning with a jump of 9 feet, A. T.

BUYERS' RACE AND FAT MEN'S RACE

In quick succession followed two of the most heart-breaking events of the afternoon, the hundred yard dash for buyers, and the fat men's race. In the former, E. Byrne Hackett, the blushing debutante who presides over the League for the coming year, streaked home ahead of a large field, Mr. Eisele, of Brentano's, panting in a few seconds after him. An entirely notable and unprecedented feature of this race was the fact that the winner was seen calmly, and with all dignity, to insert his cigar between his lips while sprinting at full speed half way to the goal. It was a great race and Mr. Hackett deserved the 6 x 4 American flag which he won.

And now harken ye unto the result of the fat men's race. Under a hot sun which made one just naturally feel sorry for them before they ever started, half a dozen men, all of whose chests had sagged sadly, lined up at the far corner of the lot. At the word "Go" a mountain of flesh bulged forward across the line and V. P. Ruiz, of the Baker & Taylor Co., was seen loping wildly toward the tape.

Then came A. Brown, of E. P. Dutton & Co., and far in the wake, weltering along in the slough of churned-up waters, came our own Henry Malkan, a grim determination to finish or bust, blazing through his tortoise shell rims.

QUARTER MILE AND SHOT PUT

After that, of course, the quarter mile run seemed a pretty tame affair. Somehow or other life had lost its zest when those fat men stopped running. However, the quarter was run off, Sharkey winning, M. Phillips, of the Theo. E. Schulte store, coming second, and Kapper, of the same firm, finishing third. The shot put was won by H. L. Bowman with 35 ft. 7 inches, Burt scoring second with 35 ft. 6½ inches, and H. Ramon, of the American News Co., third, with 34 ft. 5½ inches.

NELSON TEAM CAPTURES RELAY AGAIN

They say Bibles are selling better down at Nelson's this year than at any time in years. Perhaps the speed requisite to keeping ahead of incoming orders accounts for the speed of Mr. Thompson's relay team. Anyway, the Nelson team won out over Scribner's, Brentano's, Schulte, Dutton and Baker & Taylor, thereby planting a second leg firmly on the relay cup. Three members of the Nelson team—Jerome Walker, Edward Sulzer and Richard Burns—have left with the 71st Regiment N. Y.

N. G. for Mexico; someone was overheard after the relay race trying to bet the whole of a dollar that at least three members of the 71st would never be captured by the Mexicans.

Mr. Thompson was so elated over his team's success that he was seen over at the shooting gallery a few minutes later having a debauch of ringing bells, shattering pipes and slaughtering innumerable iron birds.

THE GOLF BUGS

Meanwhile a little group of titans had been laboring away in one corner of the lot at the approaching and putting contest. It was easy to see that whoever laid out that extemporaneous golf course had never seen a real one, for fancy an approaching and putting contest all in the "rough!" Well, after a deal of approaching with niblicks and putting with mid-irons Mr. Lacy holed out winner with some such score as 11 or 15 or so, and C. L. Bowman ran down a 6-inch put for a 14 or so, coming in second. No ladies qualified in the ladies' approaching and putting event so their cup has been put away in cold storage until next year.

LADIES' RACES DRAW LARGE GALLERY

In the ladies' races, presided over by Mr. Sherwood in an august cutaway, Miss Mabel I. Perry, of Sully & Kleinteich, owing to her willingness to bare her ankles to the fray, secured an advantage which brought her home ahead of a varied field of fat, thin, old, young, blue silk, gray moire, purple voile, Georgette crêpe, flowered lawn, et al., in the potato race, seventy-five-yard dash for single ladies and seventy-five-yard mixed singles and doubles. In the last named, however, she gave way to Miss Shapiro, of Frederick Loeser, who was awarded the prize in her place. Miss May G. Nichols, of the Rider Press, ran second in the potato race. The seventy-five-yard dash for single ladies was rendered more interesting by its goriness, one lady in blue silk and a large picture hat coming a bad cropper at the very start and another sliding across the finish line like Tyrus Cobb coming in to the home plate.

"DINNER IS SERVED"

And then came dinner! It wasn't so much what we had to eat—nobody pays much attention to what he eats on a picnic—but the quantity was there. The most hardened guzzler of steamed clams had more clams before him than he could eat, and as for chicken, they do say there aren't any more left down on Staten Island. Of course "suds" and soft drinks—for them as likes 'em—were flowing in undiminishable streams. During dinner the various costume representations of recent novels were shown. Miss Juliette Wilber, of

Brentano's, won the ten dollar gold piece, with her jacket reproduction from "Our Miss York." Other entries were "Old Judge Priest," "Nan of Music Mountain," "When Pan Pipes," "The Daredevil," "Georgina," and "The Fifth Wheel."

The silver cup for the lady holding the lucky number went to Mrs. Henry Malkan, Miss M. A. Regan winning the second prize, and Mr. Harold Woods, of the Baker & Taylor Co., holding the lucky number for "mere men."

BOWLING

The men's bowling prize was won by George Kleinteich, of Brooklyn; James McMullen, of Brentano's rolling the second highest score. Mrs. Herman Kleinteich, just to keep up the family name, won first in the ladies' bowling, with Miss Beban, of Barnett Brothers, second.

E. J. Sharkey, of the Baker & Taylor Co., won the all-round athletic medal offered by Alfred A. Knopf.

An unusually large share of credit is due the executive committee which made possible this "best outing in the history of the league." The members of the committee are R. E. Sherwood, chairman; C. E. Burkhardt, treasurer, and W. S. McKeachie, secretary. Mr. Knopf, as chairman of sports, ran off the games in double-quick time and everyone got a fair "run for his money."

MORE MEMBERS OF BOOK-TRADE MOBILIZED

WE have received the following additions to our list, published last week, of members of the book-trade who have responded to the call for mobilization: Thomas Nelson & Sons, Jerome Walker (71st N. Y.), Edward Sulzer (71st N. Y.), Richard Burns (71st N. Y.); Frederick J. Drake & Co., Stafford W. Drake (Battery E, 1st Illinois); Rand, McNally & Co., Thomas W. Pond, Burton W. Nash, J. Bodkin, J. Malachi; Charles Scribner's Sons, Michael Merkel (Quartermaster's Dept.), Thomas J. Brogan (22d Engineers), Harry Lester (22d Engineers); Henry A. Beebe Co., New Haven, Conn., Major Henry A. Beebe (2d Connecticut); Ginn & Co., eight men from Boston office and press at Cambridge; Presbyterian Board of Publication, two men; Reilly & Britton Co., William Quinn; Houghton Mifflin Co., Henry A. Laughlin, 3rd, John Dickerman, Harry Mains.

ADVERTISING CLUBS HOLD TWELFTH ANNUAL CONVENTION IN PHILADELPHIA

THE twelfth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World opened in Philadelphia on June 25. Bands galore, a woman aviator flying high over downtown structures, a steeple-jack who showered confetti from his dizzy perch on top of the William Penn statue on City Hall, and a colorful night pageant through the streets of the business section were some of the features which marked the opening. It was estimated that at least half of the 15,000 members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, not including their wives, friends and visitors, had journeyed to Philadelphia for the convention. They represented fifty cities in the United States, and were accompanied by four mayors.

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, Mayor Thomas B. Smith of Philadelphia, Provost Edgar F. Smith of the University of Pennsylvania, and President Robert H. Durbin of the Poor Richard Club welcomed the delegates.

Herbert S. Houston, President of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, presided at the morning and afternoon sessions on June 26. At the afternoon session the following men delivered addresses: Edward A. Filene of the William Filene's Sons Company of Boston; N. C. Kingsbury, Vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times; Cyrus H. K. Curtis of the Curtis Publishing Company, and R. Goodwyn Rhett, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Keen interest was exhibited on Wednesday in a debate over the Stephens-Ashurst bill. The debate was held before the Retail Advertisers' Department of the convention and was between E. L. Howe, Executive Secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, and H. C. Brown, Advertising Manager of the Victor Talking Machine Company. It was followed by a spirited general discussion. An effort to put the Retail Advertisers' Department on record for or against price-cutting was defeated.

The Associated Advertising Clubs will co-operate with the Federal Trade Commission for the coming year in the fight to stamp out mail frauds. These frauds have cost the people of the United States something like $219,000,000, it is said.

William H. Ingersoll, Chairman of the Cost and Stock Accounting Systems Committee, will be in charge of the plan just perfected, to furnish in connection with the Federal Trade Commission free accounting systems to the retail merchants of the country. He will be assisted in the work by Robert A. Montgomery, President of the American Society of Chartered Accountants; Professor Paul T. Cherington of the School of Business Administration of Harvard University, Edwin A. Walton of the Borrowers Adding Machine Company, William H. Johns of the George Batten Company, Frank A. Black of the William Filene's Sons Company, and William M. Cooper of the American Sales Book Company. Twenty-four thousand grocers, jewelers, shoe merchants, hardware dealers, and druggists will be the first to benefit by the innovation, which will enable them to check the goods whose increased sales are directly attributable to advertising. The committee plans to spend at least $150,000 on the experiment in the next twelve months. The plan is expected not alone to provide the retailers with accurate data and accounting systems, but to reduce the number of business failures and to furnish means for reducing the cost of living.

COMMUNICATIONS

RE EVERYBODY'S BOOK SHOP, CHICAGO

June 9, 1916.

Editor the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY:

I see by your publication of a recent issue that you state Everybody's Book Shop was in the hands of a receiver. I do not know where you got your information but wish to state that such is not true. I am the sole owner of Everybody's Book Shop, am solvent in every respect, have made a statement to Dun and Bradstreet. I discount all my bills, buy goods from any one and have a record as a Chicago business man which is beyond reproach. I have been in business for 20 years and have never failed, and unless I see a copy of your publication retracting this statement I shall place this matter in the hands of my attorney, as the statement is damaging to a great extent.

EVERYBODY'S BOOK SHOP.

W. I. McCall, Prop.

[On receipt of the above letter we made immediate further investigation regarding the item to which our correspondent refers which we had published on what we had believed to be good authority. The Chicago representative of the Typo Mercantile Agency sends us this further word:

"We do not know who Mr. W. I. McCall is, or how he comes to be writing on the stationery of the Carkner Shops, 1018 Wilson Ave. The statements made in our letter of May 17th are correct in that the Carkner Shops, a corporation, did make an assignment to our Mr. F. A. Lind, and that this assignment was made to take care of the accounts against both the Carkner Shop and Everybody's Book Shop. The Carkner Shop originally had two stores, one on Sheridan Road and one on Wilson Avenue. The store on Wilson Avenue was run under the name of Everybody's Book Shop and the one on Sheridan Road was run under the name of the Carkner Shop. Debts were incurred under both these names and this assignment was to cover the debts of both places. A short time prior to the time the assignment was made, the store on Wilson Avenue, which was run under the name of Everybody's Book Shop, was sold by the Carkner Shop to some other person who might be this McCall, but of which we are not advised and he evidently continues to use the same name, to wit, Everybody's Book Shop."—Ed. P. W.]

PERSONAL NOTES

ROBERT FROST, author of "North of Boston," was Phi Beta Kappa poet at the Harvard commencement.

HERBERT S. HOUSTON, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from the University of Pennsylvania on June 21.

TEMPLE SCOTT, who has been for eleven years in charge of the publishing department of Brentano's, announces his resignation to take effect Sept. 30. Personal mail may be addressed to him at 11 W. 41st street, New York City.

FREDERICK HOPE, well known to the book and stationery trade throughout the country, having represented B. W. Huebsch for about nine years past, has determined to renew his residence in England, his native country. Mr. Hope expects to sail for London in August. It is his intention to undertake the exclusive agency for certain American devices, specialties and other American goods which give promise of success in England.

ALEXANDER JESSUP, "editor of the Blue Moon," whose indictment for using the mails to defraud was noted in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for April 22, has just been heard from again through Thomas B. Mosher, the Portland publisher, who states that Jessup "bought a set of The Bibelot from him for which he never paid, and had later offered payment through an exchange advertisement scheme in the aforesaid Blue Moon."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES

D. APPLETON & Co. are organizing a class among their employees to study nursing and first aid.

THE MOST RECENT addition to the Bobbs-Merrill series of popular introductions to the works of great authors is "Dante: How to Know Him" by Alfred M. Brooks, Professor of Fine Arts, Indiana University.

A TIMELY ADDITION to the Page Company's See America First series is Nevin O. Winter's "Texas, the Marvelous," to appear this month. The book is handsomely illustrated in color and duogravure and is boxed.

IT IS RUMORED that Frank A. Munsey has bought the New York Sun and the Evening Sun. This is varied with the story that the Sun Publishing Company has bought the New York Press, which Mr. Munsey owns.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. announce that they will add to the Conrad books in blue leather immediately these volumes: "Nostromo," "Mirror of the Sea," "Under Western Eyes," and "The Secret Agent," by courtesy of Harper & Brothers; and by courtesy of Charles Scribner's Sons, "Tales of Unrest."

"THREE SONS AND A MOTHER," a novel of Scotch life, by Gilbert Cannan was published on Thursday by Doran. On the same date appeared "The Life Story of Captain Anthony Wilding," a biography of the internationally known tennis player who was killed at Neuve Chapelle in May of last year.

JOHN COWPER POWYS has compiled a list of "One Hundred Best Books" and has written a commentary on each, together with an essay on books and reading; the list is published in book form by G. Arnold Shaw. Mr. Powys' list differs from other similar lists in that it is essentially a list for the modern reader of the best fiction, one-third of the books listed being by living authors.

A CALL WAS sent out on June 23 to local committees of Methodists in New York, Cincinnati, and Chicago to meet Methodist Book Concern publishing agents in Chicago this week and take up the question of the advisability of raising prices on the Christian Advocate and certain of the books. The former is said to be published now at a financial loss and the latter likely to be because of the big advance in the prices of paper.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have taken over from the George H. Doran Co. and are republishing the following books by Cosmo Hamilton: "The Blindness of Virtue: A Play," "The Blindness of Virtue: A Novel," "A Plea for the Younger Generation," "The Miracle of Love" and "The Door that has No Key." Little, Brown & Co. will publish in the autumn Mr. Hamilton's new novel, "The Sins of the Children," now appearing serially.

"TISH," BY MARY ROBERTS RINEHART, will be published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. on August 3. It relates the startling adventures of "Tish" (otherwise Miss Letitia Carberry) and her two spinster companions, Lizzy, who tells the stories, and Aggie. Tish is a lady of dominating personality, and in spite of all objections from her two friends, who protest against her every wild project, she forces them to fall in with her plans, and the account of the exploits and excursions of these three elderly women on their "seeing America" tour is filled with humor.

THE Review of Reviews cup was awarded to Strawbridge & Clothier for the best window display of books during the week of the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. The winning display was made up of books relating to famous Americans, both biographical and autobiographical, and adding to the attractiveness of the display were framed portraits of men and women whose lives and deeds are recounted. There was also a collection of original manuscripts and letters intimately related to the books shown. The window was planned by Walter S. Lewis, manager of the Strawbridge & Clothier Book Department.

"EVEN THE CONFIRMED pessimist finds it hard to take dismal views with bank clearings 54.4 per cent. greater this week than last year, and railroad earnings 16.0 per cent. larger thus far in June," says Dun's Review for June 24. Yet this is by no means all. Last week forty-five prominent railway and industrial companies increased their dividends; eighteen declared extra payments and nine initial disbursements; four announced stock dividends; five paid off dividends in arrears and the same number resumed payments, while six raised their rates. To carry the presentment further, commercial failures for the half year will show a numerical reduction of about 25 per cent. from 1915, preliminary returns indicating a lighter mortality in June than in any month in two years. Everyone knows that exports have been large, but not all appreciate fully how remarkable is the sustained movement after many months of extraordinary shipments. Latest available figures show a balance on merchandise account of over 1½ billions, and more than $75,000,000 gold has come here since early in May without materially strengthening sterling exchange."

"REVIEW OF REVIEWS" CUP. WON BY STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER.

BUSINESS NOTES

MADISONVILLE, KY.—Ben Sisk, Sisk's Book Store, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Clark Book Company, Inc., New York, has increased its capital stock from $10,000 to $22,000.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The American Book and Magazine Exchange Co., also known as "Taylor's Book Shop," 3518-22 Franklin Avenue, has been taken over by the William Harvey Miner Co., Inc. Mr. Miner is also vice-president of the Torch Press, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

SAN MARCOS, TEX.—The Waller Million Article Corner Store has bought at bankrupt sale Lewis' Book Store.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the headings of "BOOKS WANTED" and "BOOKS FOR SALE" book-trade subscribers are given under their own names five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertising for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding one hundred lines a year, a maximum of fifty lines under "Books Wanted" and fifty lines under "Books for Sale," and if over five lines are sent for either department in any one issue, or fifty lines for each department within the calendar year, the excess is at ten cents a line. Bills for this service will be rendered monthly. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "HELP WANTED" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

A STORY ABOUT PLATES

No pressroom can produce a first class book unless it has good plates from which to print.

Our aim is as nearly a perfect plate as it is possible to produce, and we have been informed by the proprietors of a number of pressrooms that our plates are the best which they get from any source.

A letter just received from one of our customers reads as follows: "We are sending by mail to-day a copy of —, for which you recently made the plates, which are excellent."

Good Foils Are Scarce!

With our new inking equipment, we have every facility for producing the beautiful and much desired colored effects in ink.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in JUNE, 1916

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas. W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, 12°, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY
SOCIOLOGY

MEDICINE
HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS
BUSINESS
ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY
FINE ARTS
GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS

LITERATURE
BIOGRAPHY
GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.

Wake Up!

Mr. Bookseller:

Have you any school-book trade?

If you have, you can develop it further and possibly find business for other lines by sending copies of the Educational Number of the Publishers' Weekly with your compliments to all the schools, public and private, in your vicinity.

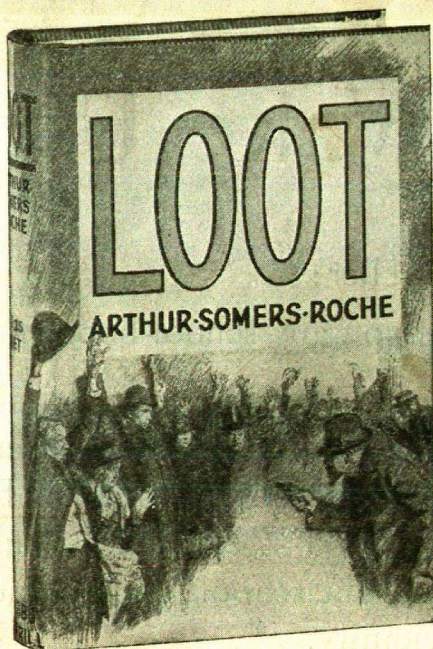

That would show enterprise.

We print a special edition of this issue for booksellers only, with imprint on cover, and supply it in quantities at very low cost:

100 copies	.	$ 8.00
250 copies	.	18.25

Let us know early if you want a quantity as this edition is printed only for advance orders.

The Publishers' Weekly

By Arthur Somers Roche

LOOT

A detective story of the greatest robbery in all the annals of crime. Exciting reading; bold in conception, masterly in execution. The heroine in LOOT is most attractive, and the love affair most satisfying.

Bound to be the big novel of the Fall.

Illustrated by M. Leone Bracker. $1.25 net
